

LEARN AT LUNCH SERIES

Friday, February 22, 2019,
from 11:30 until 1 p.m.
110 Chittenden Hall

Join the conversation,
ask questions, LEARN!
Everyone's welcome.

Bring your lunch and
join the conversation!

Friday, February 22
Jennifer E. Cobbina
HANDS UP, DON'T SHOOT.
Why the Protest in Ferguson and Baltimore matter, and how they changed America

Jennifer E. Cobbina's research examines the intersection of race, gender, and crime. Her work also focuses on prisoner reentry, desistance, and recidivism.

This session is the first of the 2019 Learn at Lunch (L@L) series sponsored by the Office of Inclusion and Intercultural Initiatives, Academic Advancement Network, and Associate Provost's Office of Undergraduate Education. L@L sessions bring important topics related to student experiences in and out of the classroom, and fostering dialogue in an effort to build inclusive communities.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY

Office for Inclusion
BUILDING INCLUSIVE COMMUNITIES